It is therefore the duty of the pharmacist and the dispensing practitioner of medicine, as also, to a considerable extent, of the druggist and the manufacturing chemist, to examine the medicinal chemicals of commerce as to their identity, quality, and purity. In the exercise of this duty, they have frequent occasion to resort for information to references now widely scattered through chemical, pharmaceutical, and medical manuals and journals; since our literature, although of vast and increasing extent, and crystallizing more and more into distinct branches, is still wanting in a special guide for ready reference in the application of chemical analysis to such examinations. In the present volume I have endeavored to supply this want, in a manner and to an extent which, it is hoped, will confine the work within the precise limits of requirement, without detracting from its general scope and its practical usefulness.
